L. R. Chamber Wants Schools to Be Opened

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Little Rock Chamber of Commerce, spurred by results of a poll of its membership, yesterday called on the Arkansas Supreme Court for finality of the state's school closing laws.

The chamber's action came after it released results of a poll which showed its members in favor of opening the city's four closed high schools and the law under which they were closed.

Both the law under which Gov. Orval E. Faubus shut the city's high schools and the law under which state funds have been withheld from the district have been challenged. Appeals are pending before the high court.

The board released the following results on a poll which posed these questions:

More Power for Hope, Area

WORKERS today started setting poles to bring the Arkansas Power & Light Co. lines into Hope and completion is expected about April 1. L. E. Myers Co. of Chicago, will tap the main AP&L line on Highway 4 at the County line and will bring it to the transfer station at 24th and Edgewood Street. City crews are currently building a line to circle much of the town. Hope has always manufactured its own power but ever increasing demands caused the city to negotiate for outside power last year.

School Board Packing Has Stalled a Bit

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A plan to give Gov. Orval E. Faubus control over the Little Rock School Board was stalled in the Arkansas Legislature today.

The bill — one of the most controversial of the current session — cleared the House, 71-23, in a vote of debate yesterday.

But the Senate tabled the proposal after its senior members threatened to resign. And with 21 votes needed to get it back before the Senate, the bill appeared to be blocked for good.

The measure, introduced by Rep. T. E. Tyler of Pulaski County with the backing of Faubus, would have authorized the governor to appoint three additional members to serve on the Little Rock School Board until next December. The board now has six members — three of whom support the governor's segregation proposals and three of whom have indicated they favor compliance with a court-ordered integration plan.

The man credited with tying up the bill in the Senate was Sen. Ellis M. Fagan of Little Rock, a member for more than 25 years. Calling the plan an affront to every senator from Pulaski County, Fagan said he would resign if the bill passed "because Pulaski County no longer will have any representation."

Ruling Asked on Special Sessions

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett was asked yesterday whether Arkansas Legislature Council members may legally get extra money for attending council sessions.

The question was asked by Rep. Grover O. Carnes of Arkansas County, a leader in an effort to loosen control of veteran members over the council.

Bennett said he did not know when his office would issue an opinion.

Carnes noted that legislators get attending council meetings and he per diem and mileage pay for asked if this was "in compliance with requirements of the Constitution of Arkansas."

A council spokesman said the attorney general's office had ruled previously that it was legal for council members to draw extra pay for council sessions.

Russians Refuse to Move Ships

MANILA (AP) — Crewmen aboard five Soviet trawlers, detained in a Luzon bay, today refused to move the vessels to a Philippine naval base until they received word from Moscow, the Defense Department said.

The Philippine government replied with a courteous worded but firm threat to use force if necessary.

The developments came as the Foreign Office revealed that the Soviet Embassy in Washington made the dean's list and was

Macmillan Warns Russia About Force

By HAROLD K. MILKS

MOSCOW (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan warned the Russians in farewell today against a resort to force in the Berlin crisis.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev, wishing him bon voyage, said "we are in favor of solving all disputed issues only by peaceful negotiations."

A joint communique, a Macmillan news conference and parting exchanges at Moscow's Vnukovo Airport summed up the positions of Britain and the Soviet Union on world issues as determined in talks over the past 10 days.

Macmillan told a news conference that he would return to London on Feb. 21, took off for home aboard a British Comet IV jet airliner.

Macmillan told a new conference the Berlin situation has "dangerous implications" which must be settled by negotiation and not by force.

Unilateral action can only lead to danger, Macmillan told the conference. "We must avoid unilateral action and agree to negotiate together. Upon that theme we can make progress."

Earlier the two men had admitted in a communique summing up their talks that they had been unable to agree on political and legal aspects of a World War II peace treaty with Germany.

But the two government heads said they had had useful talks since Macmillan arrived in Moscow Feb. 21 to explore the Soviet premier's stand on major East-West issues.

They had agreed, Macmillan and Khrushchev said, that the problems of Germany must be settled, and that early negotiations between interested governments must get under way.

The communique said the two premiers also agreed on a common objective of ultimate prohibition of nuclear weapons under an international system of inspection and control.

It said there had been agreement also to expand Soviet-British cultural relations and agreed that trade relations between the two countries had been reviewed.

Macmillan was to leave for home by plane this afternoon.

Macmillan and Khrushchev said they considered that the future negotiations on Germany "could lay the foundations for a stable system of European security."

"In this connection," the communique said, "they agreed that further study could usefully be made of the possibility of increasing security by some method of limitation of forces and weapons, both conventional and nuclear, in an agreed area of Europe, coupled with an appropriate system of inspection."

This appeared to revive Western proposals of several years ago that a limited start toward disarmament be made in a European zone extending on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

The Communists have since expanded the proposal into the Polish plan for a neutral zone from which all nuclear weapons would be barred.

Macmillan and Khrushchev said their discussions "ranged over some of the more important questions which are currently of general international concern."

"Although they did not hold negotiations, the communique continued, "the prime ministers have explained their attitude, and the reasons underlying it, on all the questions discussed."

"The free interchange of views and ideas which has taken place has created a better understanding of the respective attitudes of the two governments, and has thereby made a useful contribution toward the forthcoming international discussions in a wider circle."

University Title for State Fails in House Vote

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House today rejected a bill to give university status to Arkansas State College at Jonesboro.

The vote was 53 to 40 against the proposal.

The way was left open for reconsideration, however.

Nevertheless, best indication was that the matter was a dead issue for this legislative session.

Not even a plea from Speaker E. C. Fleeman of Mississippi County, who stepped down from the chair to support the bill, could save it.

Rep. Raymond Mays of Cleveland County gave formal notice that he would move later for reconsideration of the defeat.

The roll call was taken after a spirited debate on the bill, which had passed the Senate by an 18 to 16 vote.

No argument on either side was new.

Points Rep. Guy French, House floor leader for the bill, told representatives the college was "merely seeking to change its name."

"Arkansas State now is ready for university status," French said. "We think we can become a university without asking for additional funds."

Columbia Rep. Harry Colay said passage of the bill would leave the other six state colleges in Arkansas "up in the air."

"Why place two universities on the Missouri border?" Colay asked. "If we must have two universities, the second one should be in the South or central section of the state."

Craighead Rep. John Stiles declared: "Arkansas State cause is just. We are right. We deserve this promotion."

"If they don't want more money I can't understand the request of a name change," said Clerk Rep. J. H. Lookadoo. "But they'll be back two years from now asking for more money, and this will hurt other colleges in the state."

"We changed the name of Magnolia A and M to Southern State College several years ago," said Monroe Rep. George Slugg. "Arkansas State is asking no more than this."

"This is not just a name change," said Washington Rep. Charles W. Stewart Jr. "If we pass this bill, we may not be able to give a true university education anywhere in the state."

St. Francis Rep. T. P. Hammons agreed the creation of a second university might result in dilution of the states higher education program.

"But lets quit forcing our boys and girls to go to other states to go to school," Hammons said. "Lets have dilution until every Arkansas student can take part in the program."

"This is not the place for courtesy or sympathy votes," said Washington Rep. David J. Burleson. "We are not in a position to intelligently foresee the long range effect of this move."

Missouri Voters to Pick Representative

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Voters in Missouri's Fourth District today will choose a successor to Democratic Rep. George H. Christopher, who died in office last month.

The district includes part of Kansas City, former President Harry Truman's home town of Independence and seven rural counties.

A special Democratic convention nominated William J. Randall, 48, a member of the Jackson County (Kansas City) Board of Commissioners for 14 years.

His Republican opponent is William R. McKee Jr., 43, a lumber dealer from suburban Lees Summit who has never held an elective office.

The district normally votes Democratic. The state now has nine Democratic representatives and one Republican congressman.

Scientists Feel Certain It Will Orbit About Sun

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pioneer IV blazed a new U.S. space trail today more than a quarter of the way to the moon and farther out than any previous American rocket.

Scientists expressed assurance that the gold-plated cone would speed on past the moon into orbit around the sun, where the Russians claim already to have put their Molnia satellite.

The Army blasted off the new Pioneer from Cape Canaveral, Fla., shortly after midnight.

The launching itself was called "as near perfect as could be determined." Initial speed was quickly figured at 24,800 miles an hour, enough to escape the earth's gravitational pull.

By 8 a.m. EST scientists at the National Aeronautics and Space Agency figured the rocket was 66,000 miles out, more than a fourth of the distance of about 220,000 miles to the moon.

By 9 a.m. instrument readings and mathematical calculations placed the Pioneer 72,400 miles on its way.

At the 72,400 mile level the new Pioneer was down to 6,513 miles an hour. That was close to the speed estimated in advance for that point in the flight. Scientists stuck to their prediction that the rocket would pass the moon at a distance of some 35,000 miles around 2 p.m. EST Wednesday.

Between 7 and 8 a.m., three powerful tracking stations, at Goldstone, Calif.; in Puerto Rico and at Jodrell Bank, England, had it under simultaneous observation for 15 minutes.

NASA said these simultaneous trackings made possible extremely precise measurements of speed and course.

A maximum takeoff speed of 24,800 miles an hour made it certain the probe, dubbed Pioneer IV, would continue into an orbit around the sun, the scientists said. But no estimates of the shape or size of the orbit were promised before Thursday or Friday.

By 4:30 a.m. the space probe, losing speed as it rose, was estimated to be 42,100 miles above the earth. Its speed then was estimated at 8,600 miles an hour.

Powered by a four-stage Juno II rocket, the probe was hurtled aloft from Cape Canaveral, Fla., 10 1/2 minutes after midnight, in a launching described "as near perfect as could be determined."

Two and one-half hours later, jubilant scientists of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration here reported "very favor."

Court to Rule on Closing Law in April

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An Arkansas Supreme Court attaché said today the high tribunal is expected to rule on validity of the state school closing law sometime in April.

Phil Gowen, chief clerk of the court, said he expected the case to be submitted by March 16.

It would be a fair guess to say a decision could be expected sometime in April, Gowen said.

The Little Rock Chamber of Commerce has adopted a resolution urging a speedy decision on the constitutionality of the law — Act 4 of a 1958 special legislative session.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus used the law to prohibit the opening of Little Rock's four public high schools last September in a move to avoid compliance with federal court orders for integration. The schools are still shut.

A three-judge federal district court hearing on whether to let the Arkansas Supreme Court rule first on the validity of Act 4 is scheduled here Saturday. The law is under attack by Negro plaintiffs in the Little Rock integration case.

Attorneys for Faubus have filed a motion in federal court, asking that the state Supreme Court be allowed to rule on the validity of Act 4 before the federal courts take up the question.

The federal judges Saturday will hear a series of motions in the integration case, including the one by Faubus.

Attorneys for the federal government, which entered the integration case as a "friend of the court," have argued that even if the Arkansas Supreme Court declared Act 4 didn't violate the state constitution, the ruling would not resolve the pending federal district court suit claiming that Act 4 and Act 5 — the state student transfer plan — deny the Negro plaintiffs their rights under the Fourteenth Amendment.

State Army Reserve to Be Changed

LITTLE ROCK — The U. S. Army Reserve will be reorganized about April 1, according to Major General Edwin A. Walker, Commanding General of the U.S. Army Military District of Arkansas.

Gen. Walker said "There will be a total of 55 reserve units in Arkansas when the reorganization is completed. There are presently 72 Reserve units in the State of which 18 will be retained in the new Pentomic Army Reserve program. The remainder will be reorganized or inactivated."

In line with the new Pentomic concept for the Army Reserve, the 487th Engineer Company will be inactivated. In its place, Hope Army Reservists will organize the 288th Transportation Terminal Service Company. Personnel from the present unit will be transferred to the new transportation company.

Highway Commissioner Glen L. Wallace told the local Lions Club yesterday that he felt the Commission could continue to operate independently.

He made the statement despite the fact that a majority of the Commission members have been appointed by Gov. Faubus. He highly commended outgoing Director Herbert Eldridge and his successor.

Mr. Wallace told the group that of the road revenue of $52 million, the Commission got only $27 million of which $15 million goes for maintenance. That leaves $12 million for new construction.

If the people want to improve roads, as they have indicated to the commission, they will have to raise more money for that purpose, he declared. An increase in gasoline and license fees are currently before the Legislature.

the ultimate prohibition of nuclear weapons and the application of nuclear energy solely to peaceful purposes," the communiqué said. "They recognized, however, the great importance of achieving agreement to stop nuclear tests under an effective system of international inspection and control. They reviewed the course of the work of the Geneva conference on the discontinuance of nuclear weapons tests and resolved to continue their efforts to reach a satisfactory agreement. In contrast with the chilly atmosphere which developed at the midpoint of the talks, the signing of the communiqué in the Kremlin was an occasion for smiles and laughter.

The British prime minister Monday night brushed aside another suggestion from Khrushchev for a British-Soviet nonaggression pact that would get rid of American bases in Britain.

"To Khrushchev's proposal, made at a farewell Kremlin reception, Macmillan said he would join in a treaty specifying 'that all disputes between the two countries should be settled on the basis of the U.N. charter; that nothing would be done by either side to prejudice the rights and aspirations of the other; and, on the basis of these principles, the two governments should agree that disputes should be settled by negotiation and not by force.'

Then in a clear reference to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and American bases in Europe, Macmillan added: "This is no way prejudices our firm resolution to stand by our defensive alliances until the happy time comes when the world can give up these protective measures."

Macmillan wound up his 10-day mission expressing hope he had laid the groundwork for negotiating the cold war while admitting that East-West differences are still serious.

Khrushchev replied "The very fact that we now know each other views better shows the usefulness of such meetings." The atmosphere surrounding the talk had been lightened considerably by the Soviet agreement Monday to attend a foreign ministers conference on Germany. But Khrushchev underlined again Monday night that the Soviet aim in such negotiations will be to negotiate separate peace treaties with the West German and Communist East German governments and to end the Western occupation of West Berlin.

Angry Bolivia
Mobs Stone
U. S. Embassy

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Seeking to calm enraged mobs which stoned the U.S. Embassy, Bolivian President Hernan Siles said Monday night American officials have denied a Time magazine story that touched off the anti-American outburst.

The Time article quoted an unidentified U.S. Embassy official as suggesting Bolivia, because of its economic problems, should be abolished as a country and "its neighbors divide the country and its problems."

Siles took to the streets and the radio after the rioting resulted in the fatal shooting of a 15 year old student. At one point mobs burned the U.S. flag, but there were no reports of injuries to Americans.

In a radio appeal, Siles said the U.S. charge d'affaires had told him the Time magazine article did not correspond to statements made by an American diplomatic official.

There had been, Siles told the nation, a "provocation by an irresponsible journalist that reflected the thought of international capitalism."

The quote in question appeared in the current hemisphere edition of Time, which circulates in Latin America, but not in the U.S. edition. A spokesman at the magazine's offices in New York indicated a statement might be issued later.

Angry mobs burned issues of Time in front of the embassy. A police cordon was thrown around the building and along neighboring streets, but about 200 youths broke through.

Later, the stone throwing mobs broke many of the windows in the embassy. Others stoned the of-presentation in this Legislature. Pagan proposed instead that "if you want to tell the people of Little Rock they aren't capable of electing their school directors, then let's make this a general bill. Let's turn the entire state school system — all 422 districts — over to the governor."

Six representatives from Pulaski County voted against the bill as it passed in the House. The fight for the bill there was led by Tyler and Rep. John P. Bethell of Prairie County, a frequent spokesman for the governor. Said Bethell: "Gov. Faubus needs this bill to aid his fight against integration of Little Rock schools. If we lose this fight in Little Rock, your schools are next."

But Rep. J. H. Cottrell of Pulaski County said he could not "go along with this move toward dictatorship." And his colleague, Pulaski Rep. Gayle Windsor, called it "a monstrous piece of legislation."

Supporting the bill, Lee Rep. W. L. Word said the governor "is worshiped by the entire South because of his stand in the Little Rock integration case."

Files of the U.S. Information Service two blocks away and broke into the USIS library, destroying books and magazines. A jeep outside was overturned.

Highway Pay as Go Plan Appears Dead

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A pay-as-you-go plan to raise additional funds for highway construction appeared to be dead in the Arkansas Legislature today.

In quick order yesterday, the Senate defeated bills which would have hiked the state tax on gasoline and motor fuels one half cent per gallon; imposed higher fees on heavy trucks and boosted the state license tags for automobiles three dollars per year.

With only a week remaining in the session it seemed unlikely that tax bills could be revived although notice of reconsideration was given on the bill to boost truck license fees.

As the senate acted to veto tax hikes, it received an administration backed bill calling for a 21 million dollar special bond issue for road construction, the money to be allocated at the rate of seven million dollars a year for the next three years. This is roughly the amount the state Highway Commission has said it will need to match available federal funds.

The House, meanwhile, took up a wad of budget bills and gave most of them resounding approval. In all, 26 bills were passed, appropriating a total of 31 million dollars for a variety of state agencies.

Two budget bills were beaten — one to pay racing commission officials assigned to Oaklawn Jockey Club and the Southland Dog Track, and another to appropriate $250,000 to buy land for the Pea Ridge National Park.

The House approved, without a dissenting vote, Gov. Orval Faubus' student aid bill which will permit a student to withdraw from an integrated school and still receive his share of public school funds to be used in obtaining an education elsewhere.

The House also passed five bills revising the state's property reassessment program. The principal change abolishes the Assessment Change Ordination Department and funnels its duties into a special division of the Public Service Commission.

The Senate, to, acted on several reassessment proposals. It rejected a proposal that the minimum level at which the property should be assessed should be lowered from 20 to 12 1/2 per cent.

And it passed a bill prohibiting school districts from profit more than 15 per cent through reassessments. This proposal provides that when school district revenues exceed this percentage increase, millage rates have to be reduced.

Lawmaker Would Duel With Colleague

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An Arkansas lawmaker challenged a colleague to a duel on the floor of the Arkansas House today.

"I'll meet you any time with any weapon of your choice, including fists," Rep. W. L. Ward 78, of Lee County told Speaker Rep. A. M. Ledbetter, who is 62.

The House did not know how to take the challenge at first since Ward is known as a prankster, but he apparently was angry at the time.

The disturbance started when Ward rose to question Ledbetter on a bill of Ledbetter.

The ill-feeling disintegrated after both men expressed undying admiration and respect for the other.

Ward later chuckled when a reporter showed him a copy of the Arkansas Constitution, which provides that "any person who challenges another to a duel shall not hold public office for 10 years thereafter."

The challenge was subsequently withdrawn by Dallas Rep. L.

District Title Game to Be Played Tonight

Saturday night the Magnolia Panthers defeated the Snackover Buckaroos 58 to 54 and threw the Division AAA race into a 2-way tie for first. The Bobcats downed Fallview to cop third place and all three teams will go into state tournament.

Meanwhile the Bobcats will end the season tonight by taking on the Razorbacks of Texarkana. Both teams will make the trip.

Kentucky to Top Spot in Cage Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kentucky Wildcats may find themselves in the unenviable position of having to defend two firsts when they begin play in the 1939 NCAA basketball tournament.

Kentucky, which finished its regular season with a 23-2 record and a tie for second place in the Southeastern Conference, will occupy its NCAA title defense in the Midwest regionals at Evanston, Ill., March 12. The Wildcats got in because Mississippi State, the Southeastern Conference champion, would play in a tournament where other teams had Negro players.

Kentucky not only will be defending the NCAA title, but likely will go into the tournament ranked as the No. 1 college team in the Associated Press poll. This week's voting again put Kentucky on top by a margin of over 100 points over runner-up Kansas State.

Kansas State (22-1) has two more games to play, however, and these could lead to stronger support in the voting of sports writers and broadcasters in the AP poll. Third-place Cincinnati also has some key games left on its schedule.

On the ballots of 104 writers and broadcasters, Kentucky edged K-State by only 32-28 in the first place voting but retained first place on points (58 to 750, Cincinnati with only seven firsts, drew 703 points).

Since The Associated Press poll was inaugurated in 1949, Kentucky has finished on top four times but won the NCAA title in only two of those years—1949 and 1951.

The top ten teams with first place votes in parentheses (points on 100-8 etc. basis):

1. Kentucky (32) 858
2. Kansas State (28) 750
3. Cincinnati (7) 703
4. Mississippi State (20) 617
5. North Carolina (5) 551

Triple Tie in Border Loop Basketball

By JOHN CHANDLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Border Conference basketball race was all wrapped up in a triple tie today after upset losses by Texas Western and New Mexico State, while third ranked Cincinnati clinched at least a tie for the Missouri Valley Conference crown.

Oscar Robertson scored 44 points as Cincinnati belted North Texas State Monday night 85-64, and if the Bearcats can handle Bradley in their nationally televised game (NBC, 3 p.m., EST) Saturday they'll wrap up the title. Bradley kept pace by downing Houston 74-60.

West Texas State spoiled the night for New Mexico State, 83-75, while Hardin-Simmons prevented Texas Western from taking the Border Conference championship with a 58-57 overtime victory.

This left New Mexico State, Texas Western and Arizona State, which had already completed its schedule, in a triple deadlock with 7-3 conference records. The teams will draw for a bye, and the lucky team will await the winner of the game between the other two schools.

The Border Conference winner goes into the Far Western regional NCAA tournament, meeting Idaho State, the Rocky Mountain Conference champs at a place and date to be arranged.

Bradley, ranked ninth nationally, ends the conference campaign Saturday, Cincinnati, with a 12-0 league record, could lose to Bradley, but still win the championship ship and an NCAA tourney berth by defeating St. Louis next Monday. Bradley, 11-2 in the conference and 223 for the season, has hopes of a bid to the National Invitation Tournament in New York. St. Louis also hoping for one of the three National Invitation Tourney berths still open, ripped Tulsa 83-65.

Michigan State's Big Ten champions had no trouble with last-place Wisconsin, winning 93-73. Michigan rallied to defeat Illinois 101-95 to keep alive hopes of a runner-up finish in the Big Ten. Ohio State came from behind to beat Minnesota 68-66.

Tom Hawkins came up with 27 points for Notre Dame, and the Irish whipped Valparaiso 93-65. Nebraska edged Missouri 81-79 in a Big Eight Conference game.

Wichita defeated Drake 78-72 in a Missouri Valley Conference battle. Dayton coasted to an 82-51 victory over Detroit and Idaho turned back Oregon 84-58 in a Pacific Coast Conference game.

Eastern Kentucky, already in the NCAA Midwest regional tournament, overpowered Loyola of New Orleans 72-63.

After a 30-mile ride, Needham stopped for gasoline and Mrs. Schwarz escaped with the child. They were unharmed.

Officers found Needham hiding in an outhouse at Leachville the next day.

Judge H. G. Partlow sentenced Needham to 30 years on the kidnapping charge, 10 years on the robbery count and five years for grand larceny. The sentences are to run consecutively, making a total of 45 years.

Bob Petit Is Sure to Set New Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Petit of the St. Louis Hawks needs only a 13-point average in his six remaining games to establish a National Basketball Assn. scoring record.

The Bayou Bombardier, who was drafted by the Hawks after winning All-America honors at LSU, is within 78 points of George Yardley's standard of 2,061. Yardley, now playing for Syracuse, set the mark for Detroit last season.

Petit has amassed 1,924 points on average of 29.2 points a game. If he maintains that average, he will eclipse the record set by the great George Mikan who in 1950-51 scored 28.4 a contest.

Trailing Petit are Jack Twyman of Cincinnati and Paul Arizin of Philadelphia.

Twyman advanced to second place with 1,693 points and a 25.3 average. Arizin, whose 25.8 average is higher, trails in points with 1,075, but has two more games to play.

Kenny Sears leads in field goal accuracy with a .493 mark; Boston's Bill Sharman heads the free throw percentage leaders with .835; Bill Russell of the Celtics heads the rebounders with 22.0 a game and Boston's Bob Cousy heads the playmakers with 8.5 assists a game.

HARRISBURG, Ark. (AP) — A Missouri man accused of kidnapping a baby-sitter and the child she was minding has been sentenced to a total of 45 years imprisonment.

Earl Vernon Needham, 34, of St. Louis, pleaded guilty in Poinsett Circuit Court yesterday to charges of kidnapping, burglary and grand larceny.

He was accused of breaking into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Setney at Weiner Feb. 13, ransacking the house and forcing Corv said, "I'm standing pat. He and the club are still about $5,000 apart."

A nostalgic note broke the routine at the Los Angeles camp. Flanked by two attendants and confined to an electrically powered wheelchair he calls his "Cadillac," Roy Campanella, now a Dodger coach, rejoined his former teammates.

Conley, Loes Now Bad Boys of Baseball

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Temperamental Billy Loes and hooper Gene Conley today were running neck and neck for designation as major league baseball's No. 1 bad boy.

Loes, the only ballplayer ever to claim he lost a ground ball in the sun, ended another brief feud with the Baltimore management Monday and signed his contract.

The 29 year old pitcher, long known for his eccentric actions, often has clashed with Oriole Manager Paul Richards since he was sold by Brooklyn in 1936.

Loes signed for an estimated $20,000 taking a slight cut after a dismal 39 pitching performance last year. He reiterated a statement he has often made: "I'd like to be traded to another club."

Conley drew a blast from Milwaukee executive vice president Birdie Tebbets. He has been playing professional basketball with the Boston Celtics and refused to report for spring training. The Braves pitcher, who had a 0-9 mark last year, insists he will not report before the hop season ends.

Said Tebbets: When we gave Conley permission to play basketball it was with the understanding that he would quit that sport by Feb. 15. Now he feels he owes an obligation to the Celtics. He must feel no obligations to us.

The Braves, however, did receive some good news when infielder Casey Wise and Del Rice signed, leaving only Conley first baseman Joe Adcock and pitcher Don McMahon as holdouts.

The Washington Senators brought two holdouts into the fold, getting signed contracts from Jim Lemon, who hit 26 home runs last year, and Abbie Pearson, the American League's rookie of the year.

Among the holdouts, Bob Corv, the Kansas City's As long range batter, remained firm in his demands. Seeking a reported $35,000

Matter of FACT

The glove as an article of wearing apparel dates from long before written history. The cave man made mittens of leather to protect his hands and arms. A child's long, linen glove was found in the tomb of King Tutankhamun of Egypt, who reigned about 1350 B.C. In the 4th century B.C., Xenophon made fun of the Persians for wearing "hairy coverings" for arms.

P. B. Board Asks for More Time

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Dollarway School Board at Pine Bluff yesterday asked for more time to answer a U. S. District Court suit seeking to integrate the district's schools.

Herschel Friday, Jr., the board's attorney, made the request on the day the answer was due. He said additional time was needed so the board could complete studies and compile information.

Three Negro students seek a court order to allow them to transfer from the all-Negro Townsend Park School to the all white Dollarway School.

The suit was filed Feb. 6.

WILL IT HAPPEN AGAIN?—There are rumblings of a new Communist Berlin blockade. The first one, in 1948-49, was made ineffectual by the famed "airlift." This major air effort by the Allies is typified by the photo, above, which shows a long line of unloaded truck trailers at a Frankfurt airport after the goods had been put into waiting transport planes bound for Berlin. The planes flew around the clock to bring to the western sector of the city the essentials—food, things and people. Now, less than 10 years later, the scenes could be repeated.

Trouble in Detroit Laid to Integration

DETROIT (AP)—An unprecedented police slowdown here was blamed by Police Commissioner Herbert W. Harl today on racial integration orders putting white and Negro patrolmen in the same car.

The slowdown, which the Detroit Police Officers Assn. said was not authorized, started Sunday with police apparently making no effort to ticket cars lacking new license plates.

The slowdown continued today, materially cutting enforcement of laws against illegal license plates, parking and minor traffic violations.

One lieutenant said it is no case of general breakdown of police enforcement and except in small matters the men are carrying out their jobs.

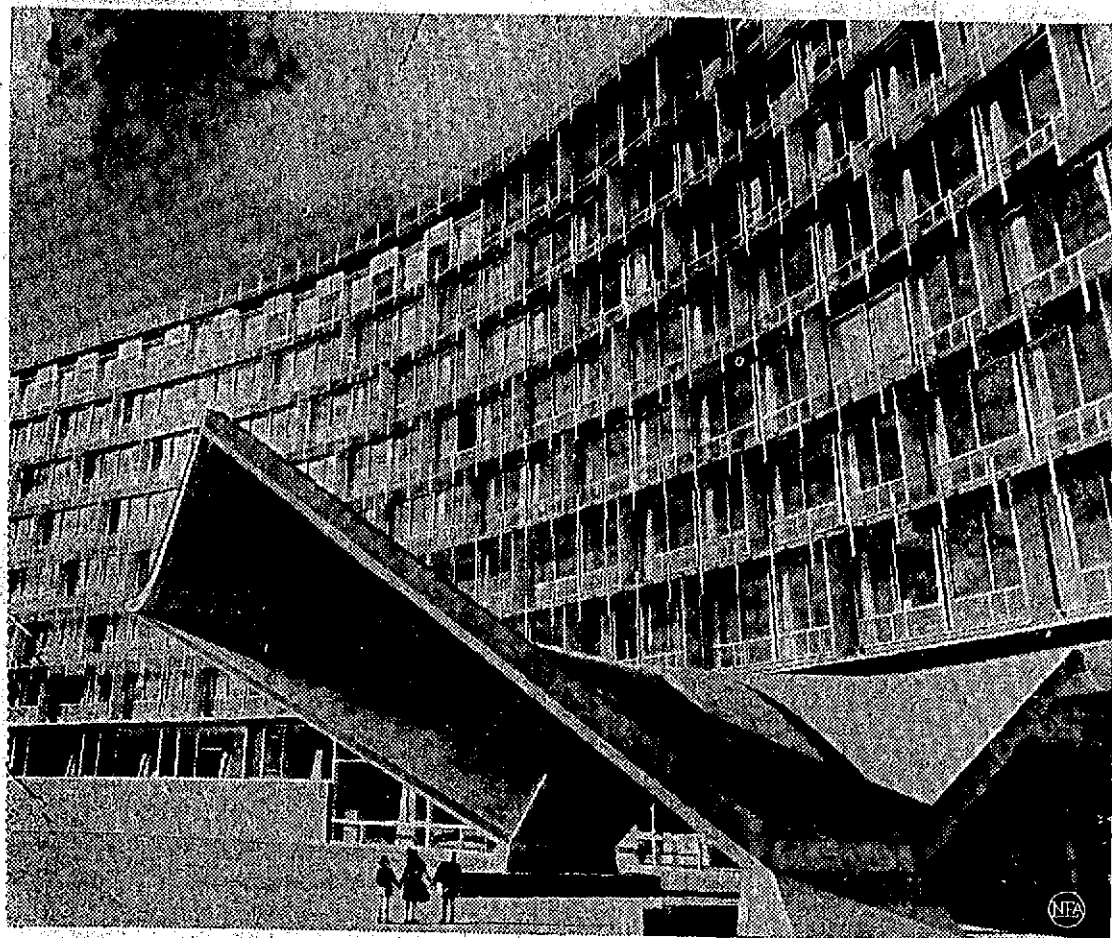

Members of the Detroit City Council said they are concerned but planned to take no action until they have conferred with Mayor Louis C. Miriani.

At his office, Mayor Miriani said he believes police morale to be high despite reports to the contrary.

Court Won't Review a Death Sentence

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Supreme Court refused yesterday to review the death sentence of Leo Lee, a Negro of Little Rock, Ark.

The 36-year-old Lee, convicted of slaying another Negro in Little Rock in 1956, contended the trial court erred by allowing use of a confession not voluntarily given. Lee also protested that a revolver used in evidence was taken from his home without a search warrant.

KILLER AMONG US

© 1958 by Robert Martin

By Robert Martin

THE STORY: While investigating a suspected case of sabotage, Jim Bennett, a private detective, poses as a salesman, formerly employed by the Blue Ridge company. He meets a representative of Blue Ridge. After returning to Maple Hill, Jim receives a call from John Simmons, the man he met.

VIII

The bar at the Maple Inn was located off the lobby between the dining room and the Coffee Shoppe. John Simmons was alone in a booth along one wall. He stood up, motioned to me, and I moved to the booth.

"Thanks for coming down," he said.

"It's time to eat anyway. Whats on your mind."

"Will you have a drink?"

"Bourbon and soda."

After the girl had brought my drink, he said, "Maybe I shouldn't drink, but I know that you never worked for the Blue Ridge Grinding Wheel Company."

"Go on, I took a sip of my drink."

"When I met you this afternoon I was pretty certain that you hadn't worked for Blue Ridge. I'm a personal friend of the Blue Ridge. I'm a personal friend of the Blue Ridge salesman who has the Cleveland territory—he had it for 10 years. His name is not Bennett. So I phoned our office in Pittsburgh. The personnel man there told me that the only Bennett who had ever been employed died two years ago."

Simmons paused, watching me, a small smile playing about his lips. I took another drink and waited. He said, "I checked further, I called our Cleveland office. They learned from the city directory that there is a James J. Bennett, Cleveland branch manager of the American Detective Agency. They called the police department and got your description without any trouble. Our Cleveland branch manager, as a favor to me, then called the American Detective Agency, and learned from your secretary, a Miss Sandra Hollis, that you were out of the city."

There was no point in beating around the bush, I said, "All right. What else?"

He spread his hands. "To me, it adds up to one thing; the people at Buckeye are desperate. They are convinced that there is no fault in the manufacturing of their wheels, no technical errors, that they pass testing and final inspection. But still they break in operation. So," He held up one forefinger. "So it means that the wheels are being deliberately damaged—by someone in the factory. They have hired you, a detective, to find that person."

I sighed and said bleakly, "You're quite a detective yourself. What's the angle?"

He looked at me, the smile still playing about his lips. "Think you can catch him—or her?"

"I'm going to try."

He leaned forward, his gaze suddenly intense. "Listen, Bennett: I work for the Blue Ridge. Buckeye is our main competitor. Portage Foundry is a juicy account. I want it. Now is the time for me to get it—before you, or somebody, discovers why Buckeye wheels are faulty. Archer Kolter is about to give me an order. This is my big break." He tossed off his drink in one swallow. "Bennett are you married?"

"No."

"I am, he said. "I have a beautiful wife and she likes things nice. I have four children, three

Reds Remove Some Blocks to German Talks

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) American officials said today the Soviet Union has removed some bit by no means all of the road blocks to a negotiated settlement of the German crisis.

These officials cautiously welcomed a new Soviet note accepting the West's proposal to hold a foreign ministers conference on the critical issues. But their first intensive examination of the 10-page note, received here Monday, turned up several fishhooks.

They saw one concession: Kremlin agreement to a foreign ministers meeting at Geneva or Vienna next month.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev had said in a Moscow speech last Tuesday that a foreign ministers meeting would be a waste of time, so why not get on immediately with a summit conference. Now, the Soviets were agreeing to a foreign ministers meeting, limited to three months.

American officials also saw a repudiation of a previous Soviet line—that German reunification was a matter for the East and West Germans, and nobody else, to settle.

Some other demands and preconditions in the note would have to be explored in requests to Moscow for clarification.

U. S. consultations with Britain, France and West Germany are scheduled to start at Bonn next Tuesday. Diplomats of the four countries will begin then to draft a reply to the Soviet gambit.

One major cause of relief was Moscow's apparent de-emphasis of May 27 as a critical deadline. This was the date set by Khrushchev for turning East Berlin over to East Germany if no East-West talks were under way by then.

A major obstacle to success in the talks seemed to be categorical rejection by the U. S. S. R. of German reunification as an agenda topic. The Soviet note insisted the existence of East Germany was a fact of life that the West must accept. The note said the U. S. S. R. would undertake no "interference" with the two German states, and that the Big Four powers should go no further than to "facilitate reunification arranged by the Germans themselves."

U. S. officials said they would be exploring in requests to Moscow for clarification.

Fire Damages Area Near Clarksville

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Fire cut a 2½ mile path through pasture land north of Clarksville yesterday and threatened several houses before it was brought under control.

Leonard Bradley, forestry dispatcher at the Cazort tower 15 miles north of here said the blaze burned an estimated total of 300 acres.

He said it started on Harkreader Mountain from burning trash and was fanned by high winds across the countryside.

No injuries were reported.

Harrison Youth Wins Trade Honor

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Bill Grimes of Harrison won the two top awards at this year's annual convention of the Future Traders of Arkansas, which ends today.

Grimes was named both Mr. Future Tradersman of Arkansas and outstanding distributive education student of the year during activities yesterday.

Last night, Miss Willie Mae Jennings of Clarksville was named the organization's sweetheart. Runners-up were Miss Carolyn Amason of El Dorado and Miss Sharon Horton of Paragould.

boys and a girl. I have a home in Toledo—eight rooms, ranch type, wall to wall carpeting, recreation room and bar, even a swimming pool. I own two cars. We belong to a good country club, our children have every advantage, we move in nice circles. But our house is still mortgaged for $30,000 and I'm still paying for cars. I need that Portage account. It will put me over the hump, give me a little security."

"I wonder, I said.

"All right. He spoke harshly. "The more I make, the more I spend. So what? I still want that Portage account."

I gazed at John Simmons, saw the sweat on his high handsome forehead, saw his hand tremble as he lit the cigarette. He said, "Bennett can we make a deal?"

"What kind of a deal?"

He reached into an inside coat pocket, brought out a slim pigskin wallet, extracted three $100 bills and four fifties and placed them on the table before me.

"Five hundred," he said.

I looked at the money and then at Simmons. I didn't say anything.

He said, "Go through the motions, but don't find anything. Make it look good. Then tell the Buckeye people you're stumped, you're sorry. Collect your fee and forget it."

"They might uncover the trouble without me. I said. "Then you'd be out $500—and still not have the Portage account."

"I'm not worried about that. I'm worried about you. If you'll just stall for a few days I'll have the Portage business in my pocket."

I picked up the bills, folded them and stuck them into the breast pocket of my coat. He regarded me with veiled contempt. "Frankly, Bennett, I wasn't sure that I could buy you. But every man has his price. I'm a judge of character, and a salesman. I made the right pitch and you grabbed it. You would have laughed at a hundred bucks. Wouldn't you."

"Maybe, I said. "There's one thing; do you, by any chance, know who or what is behind this wheel breakage at Buckeye?"

He shook his head. "I don't, honestly."

Woman Sought in Kidnaping

LOS ANGELES (AP)—As a distraught mother promised forgiveness, FBI agents today sought a childless woman they think may have resorted to kidnaping for the second time.

They said descriptions of a volunteer babysitter who vanished with Eric Flores of suburban Orange Jibe with those of a woman who figured in a previous kidnaping.

Ruth Flores, 35, widowed only last June, prayed, meanwhile, asking God to make the kidnaper

"see the light of what is right, and return her ailing eight-week-old baby."

"If she will do this I am willing to forgive her," the mother sobbed. "She must love children an awful lot. But that's no excuse to rob me of mine."

The youngster was taken early Friday from the crib he shared with his twin, Aaron. Mrs. Flores has four other children.

A woman giving the name Ann Williams sat for Mrs. Flores after posing as a church worker. Mrs. Flores recalled that the woman wore a maternity dress although she did not appear to be an expectant mother.
